

Requirements for the essay

1. It should be 1000 words.

- The number of pages depends on the font type and size you are using, so focus on the number of words and not number of pages.
- Please stick to the 1000 words limit. Of course, it can be a bit longer/shorter but you must demonstrate that you can structure and express your thoughts in a way that this can fit well within the given limit.

2. It should be a personal statement

- This means that you should express your personal views and opinions in the essay which may or may not be supported by external sources.
- In most cases though, you would probably want to support your arguments with an online article or another source. Therefore, please make sure you add a reference list in the end and add an in-text citation.

3. What should be the focus of the essay?

- You are free to choose a focus point yourself, an argument around which you will structure your essay.
- Keep it short, be creative and avoid copy-pasting from online sources.
